We the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do hereby constitute this Constitution for the United States of America.

Article I

Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and seven Years, be a Citizen of the United States, and when elected, shall not be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and including Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons. The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and in every subsequent Term of five Years, on the Day which will be the fourth Day of November, the Number of Representatives shall then and there be ascertained by Law, and each Representative shall, when elected, be a Citizen of the United States, and when elected, shall not be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen. No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and seven Years, be a Citizen of the United States, and when elected, shall not be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

There shall be no Person in the House of Representatives who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and seven Years, be a Citizen of the United States, and when elected, shall not be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.
